Your Questions Answered

The HSCIN is now offering a service we call "Your Questions Answered". If you have a question about Hoover City Schools that you just can't seem to get answered through traditional channels (always check with your child's teacher and school first!), submit your question to us at HSCIN@HSCIN.org. We will attempt to get a proper response from the appropriate responsible area and will post your question with the answer. We borrow this idea from a similar group in Texas, the Gunter Education Forum.

Remember, always ask the appropriate authority first. We will be unable to answer school-specific questions. Rather this will be an opportunity to get more information about the larger District of Hoover City Schools.

We've created a new page, Your Questions Answered, to post your questions and responses. While we ask that you submit your name with your question to allow us to further clarify if needed, we will not post your name.
